Barbara Deavin (teacher at Stronsay school) is hoping to reinstate the Friday night games club at the Community Centre. She needs some trusty volunteers to help her for approximately two hours on a Friday evening. If, for instance, ten people volunteered they would only need to do a "duty" once every ten weeks. If you're interested please ring Barbara on 305.

Following enquiries made to the Planning Department the Trust have been advised that it is considered that the works currently being carried out are more extensive than envisaged under the planning consent. The Planner has therefore requested that we submit an amended planning application to address the situation. ### STRONSAY'S RUNNING POSTIE—UPDATE

Andy wishes to say an enormous thank you for all the money that has been donated for his 10k run in Edinburgh on 30th of this month. We have been overwhelmed by everyone's generosity, he already has almost £500 pledged which will be matched by the Royal Mail for The Stroke Association.

We will update you on how he did in next month's issue, but we just wanted to say a thank you now to everybody.

Andy and Shirley Whiteman.

LATEST BIRD SIGHTINGS

Swallows and Sand Martins arrived in small numbers during late April and early May, but by mid-month over twenty of the latter were seen near the colonies in Mill Bay in spite of the generally cold, often northerly winds. A spell of light winds from an easterly quarter around 4th-5th May brought a few migrants to the island including three beautiful male Pied Flycatchers – at Dale, Helmsley, and Sunnybank. A few other species were recorded about this time including a male Redstart seen by Carwyn and Dave in the Coweshouse garden, a Greenshank flying over The Reserve, and a few Wheatears and Chiffchaffs. The most unexpected sighting was of a pair of Garganey on the Blan Loch.

A brief spell of light winds on 13th-14th May brought a male Garganey to the Blan Loch where it was seen on and off until the 18th, and a few small passerines, including Goldcrests, Chiffchaffs and Willow Warblers, and two Lesser Whitethroats – one at Airy and the other at Holin Cottage. The most unexpected sighting during this spell was a pair of Goldfinches at the North Quarry – much paler than typical British Goldfinches and probably from elsewhere in Europe. Keen birdwatchers Anthony and Clare had two surprises in their garden at Gesty Dishes on 15th - both birds singing - a Sedge Warbler and a Chiffchaff.

Just one small migrant was seen on 18th at a time when the island could be buzzing with birds heading for their northern breeding grounds - a Tree Pipit between Coweshouse and Fingeo. A Blackcap was also seen at Coweshouse on 23rd.

There have been occasional sightings of ‘owls’ (almost certainly Short-eared) in the last few weeks giving hope that at least one pair may stay to breed this year. Terns are now present in good numbers, with Arctic, Common, and Sandwich all regularly seen at the Matpow Loch. Eiders are also present in good numbers this year - much higher than in the last few years.

I was invited to lead six Minibus trips in mid-May by Headmaster Andrew King in conjunction with Enjoy Wild Orkney/Migration Watch, and it is pleasing - and a relief - to say that all the groups managed to see at least a few interesting species. Highlights were the Sanderling – scuttling along the sand as ever – at Bomasty Bay; drake Eider Ducks resting on the pebble-beach, also at Bomasty; terns and gulls at the Matpow Loch; Shoveler duck at the Blan Loch, and best of all the summer-plumaged Great Northern Divers – one at Bomasty, the other between the piers in Whitehall Village. It is also pleasing to report that even the teachers behaved impeccably in the School Bus! Thanks to Maurice for his expert positioning of the vehicle when required.

Thanks again for all the calls.                      John Holloway

THE QUALITY OF LIFE

By Ellie from Newfield

The quality is different
For each of us I think
As what is one man's poison
Is another's food & drink.
Here I stand on the "Crofter's Hill"
With a banquet at my feet,
Mother Nature has set the table
From which we all will eat.
The quality of life
For as far as the eye can see
Laid out like a blanket
Beyond this land towards the sea.
And whilst there's not a grain of concrete
Lays cold beneath my feet
But a carpet of purple heather
Whose scent is rich and sweet.
A quality of life
This crofter's wealth is beyond gold,
Above is a never-ending sky
From which the Northern Lights unfold.
The valley holds grazing sheep
Contented with their lot.
The quality of life it seems
Comes not from a money pot.
Mother Nature take a bow
As the heather bells ring today,
Whilst I must leave this scene
And shortly be on my way.
We've worked together, her and I,
Through good and bad times
But the quality of life was rich
And as clear as those heather bell's chimes!

STRONSAY BOOKWORM NEWS

There was a lively discussion at The Stronsay Hotel on May 14th when we met to talk about “Notes from an Exhibition” by Patrick Gale. There were so many themes running through the book that our discussion ranged from Quakerism to modern art to how we treat mental health issues today. Our responses to the book were mixed though we all agreed that there was plenty to think about, and that it was a good choice of book for our fledgling book club. At the end of the evening we each awarded the book a mark which averaged out at 8.5/10.

Everyone is welcome to join us – no experience necessary! If you read the book at home but cannot make the meeting, please send us your thoughts and a mark out of five. b.deavin@hotmail.co.uk

Our next book is “The Pursuit of Love” by Nancy Mitford. June 11th

Don’t be put off by the title! It’s written by one of the Mitford sisters whose exploits kept society entertained throughout the 1930’s and 1940’s. It’s a comical account of an aristocratic family during the second World War. Nancy Mitford was known for her sharp and provocative wit. See what you think...
